John,

The subscriptions are what have passwords when subscribing via scribe.

Your database service is already providing the appropriate password for its subscription.

So if they are making it into your database you don't have to worry about any other passwords. Security of the data at that point is on you.

Can you please confirm that the 3 scribe projects in the attached file do not have passwords? If they do have passwords, can you please provide? I need these ASAP in order to deploy some tools for the current ER.
